

THE OLD TIMERS HOLD THEIR FIRST GRAND BANQUET.

There was a great gathering of those who metaphorically came over on the Mayflower, on Wednesday evening last at the Criterion restaurant to celebrate the first annual dinner of the Calgary Olympic Committee.

The interior of the restaurant was crowded with those who came to do justice to the splendid array prepared for Mr. Jordan again in very comfortable surroundings. The entertainment was there with some of the real truth. Hoary old pickers were there who had pitched their tents in the valleys of the mountains and were anxious to retain their scalp by virtue of their Winchester. Others had whacked balls out of Benton for the historic

A DASTARDLY OUTRAGE

THE CITY COUNCIL. Oat Meal Mill and the In- come Tax Under Discussion.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the city council took place on Thursday night. Present: Aldermen Henderson, Young, Creighton, Mackenzie, Spafford, Emerson and Hatfield. A letter was read from the Hon. A. L. Brown, minister of agriculture, stating that he had nothing to do with the boulevard opposite the Bow river. Another communication was also received from the same minister stating that he had no money available for putting in a sewer in Calgary public buildings.

The overseer of Hobbinsville wrote stating that the village was desirous of seeking to derive protection from fire through the city brigade and taxing the cost of obtaining the services of the brigade.

A clause was read for the privilege of making a certain addition to his premises on Stephen Avenue.

The City Council is Liable.

In reference to the request of the people of Hobbinsville, Alderman Hatfield said that as chairman of the fire, water and light committee he would not take the responsibility of allowing the fire brigade to go out into the city limits for the purpose of assisting the mayor. If the fire engine were sent, he thought the city would be liable.

Alderman Emerson asked the opinion of the city solicitor in the matter.

J. B. Smith, N. C. and he could not give an answer at that time. It was his impression that the engine or brigade could not be sent beyond the limits of the city.

Alderman Creighton thought that no charges should be taken.

Alderman Young suggested that the letter be laid on the table until the city solicitor had looked into the matter, which was done.

A. Carson, who was present, addressed the council in regard to his improvements which he desired to make in his building on John Avenue. He desired simply to raise the building in order to add another story. If he could be allowed to make the proposed addition without the employment of about eight additional men.

Alderman Young: "Did you see the building inspector?"

Mr. Carson: "Yes, I did, but he told me that it could not be done without the consent of the council. I am going to raise the building seven feet and make it in metal sheeting."

Alderman Mackenzie: "According to the by-law it could not be done, although it would render the building more safe from fire."

Moved by Alderman Young, seconded by Alderman Emerson, that Mr. Carson be allowed to make the improvements in question, and that the building inspector be instructed to make the building as nearly as possible.

Mr. Carson: "Thank you, Mr. Chairman."

The Outmeal Mill.

Alderman Young stated that Mr. Johnson, the man who proposed erecting the outmeal mill, had called upon him a few days previously and had gone with him to view the four lots that would be used for his purpose. These lots would only cost $100 and were certainly very cheap.

Mr. Johnson had asked the city solicitor to prepare a draft agreement between the city and Mr. Johnson. The draft agreement was presented and read. It provided that Mr. Johnson should agree to operate the mill for the purpose of grinding the outmeal for the city.

The city agreed to grant Mr. Johnson a plot of land, the cost of which would not exceed $100. To grant would cover up to the extent of 100 gallons per year for a period of five years.

Alderman Emerson: "If the city fails to supplement this agreement through accidental failure of water supply, what then; would the city be liable?"

Alderman Young: "Not if the nature of water were beyond our control."

Alderman Mackenzie: "Who is Mr. Johnson?"

Alderman Young: "I understand he has been in the business in the east. He told me that he and his brother had operated the first outmeal mill in Manitoba."

On motion of Alderman Young and seconded by Alderman Emerson, the committee of the whole, to consider the draft agreement submitted.

A clause was added to the agreement providing that the building be erected by December 1, 1902. Some time was devoted to discussion as to whether it was advisable to submit a bid for the whole five years or simply to trust to the water supply, carrying out the agreement.

As carrying out the agreement was asserted, however, that Mr. Johnson was willing to consent to having the agreement renewed from year to year it was decided that the agreement be renewed in the future.

The committee then rose and retired, and Ald Mackenzie moved that the committee on new buildings be empowered to purchase lots in question.

The City Building.

Alderman Hatfield wanted to know how much it was to be in taking back the flag and building which had been taken to decorate the open house, Alderman Hatfield: "Those beautiful stables?"

The Hull Fence.

Alderman Emerson said that W. R. Hull had spoken to him and asked for a fence around his new building which encroached on the street, and that gentleman wanted to know if it would do if the fence were opened at both ends.

Alderman Hatfield thought that unless there was an assurance that the building was to be proceeded with in the near future the fence should be completely removed.

Alderman Emerson said that Mr. Hull had pointed out to him that Mr. Hull might take a notion to fence in the street, but of course there was no guarantee. Mr. Hull had asked him to bring the matter up.

Alderman Mackenzie said that Mr. Hull had spoken to him about the matter. He thought it might be arranged if Mr. Hull put down the sawkicks.

It was decided to let the former decision of the council stand.

Alderman Emerson referred to those who were paying income tax. It was his opinion that those who were taken to make those in arrears pay up. He wished to know if there was no way by which C. P. R. engineers and conductors could get out of paying this tax. They claimed to be too busy to pay it.

It was suggested that they should pay income tax and a real property tax as well. They also were of the opinion that as they were paying their money outside of the city they should be allowed to pay it in the city.

It was asserted that the city council could not remedy the matter. He had pointed out to the complainants that they should have approached the council when it was a court of review.

Alderman Emerson said that it was not fair to blame the council when it had not been approached in the matter. This question had never been before the council. It had been before the court. He had been before the court. He had been before the court. He had been before the court.

Alderman Emerson: "I may say that when I made the motion I did not know that those people were engineers. I would like to know that the city solicitor has to say to the matter."

J. B. Smith said that he could not say any way of the difficulty unless the courts decided some tax was to be paid. He would like to know if the city council could pay a resolution relating the tax, but he did not think that could be done under the current provisions.

It was moved by Alderman Young and seconded by Alderman Emerson that the mayor and city clerk be empowered to sign a warrant as amended between B. F. Hatfield and the city.

It was moved by Alderman Emerson, seconded by Alderman Mackenzie, that the city clerk be paid the salary of $25 per month for the year.

The council adjourned.

Hurrah for Czologos.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—President McKinley's assistant, Wm. C. Czegos, who was in Chicago last night, Abraham Lincoln, the leader of the "Reds" in this city and editor of the Five Cent Party, was here today.

He said that as to personal merit he was not a good place to Czegos. The conference of rank was accompanied by a scene of intense excitement. It was the climax of the debate on "Socialism vs. Anarchy," and it came when the audience of over two thousand men were aroused thoroughly by the wild oratorical denunciations of the "Reds" by the "Blacks" and the "Blacks" by the "Blacks."

Patronage For Ontario.

The Canadian government appears to be blind to the fact that the lives of the loyal lady who are going out with the third countess may often depend upon the reaction and speed of their horses. Imagine some of the Western range riders pointing out in Africa upon a cart horse that from the stilt of an African plough. Some of the Barbicans who are allowed under the soil of the west might have been living today had it not been for the excellent nature of their mounts.

But still the Canadian authorities have not learnt their lesson. All that Mr. Gordon and his friends seem to see in the sending of the third countess is an opportunity to show some patriotism by throwing some money at the British.

It is a pity that the Canadian people are not more patriotic.
